AUTO KILLS AGED MAN AT BLOOMFIELD

HOUSE REPORT APPROVES GAS TAX INCREASE

Rural Police Bill Also Receives Favorable Recommendation of Committee.

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—Recommendation that the Ohio legislature pass the Sullivan-Bostwick bill, providing for an increase in the state gasoline tax to four cents from three cents per gallon, and the Creighton bill, to create a state rural highway police force, will be contained in reports scheduled to be submitted by the house highways committee at this afternoon's session of the lower legislative branch.

Decision to report these two measures out was reached at a session of the committee last night. The rural police bill was introduced by Rep. O. S. Creighton, Marietta. It differs in numerous respects from the rural police measure, introduced by Sen Joseph Ackerman, of Cleveland which passed the senate.

As agreed to by the committee the Sullivan-Bostwick bill includes portions of similar measures introdued by Representatives Dallas Sullivan, Union-co, and L. R. Bostwick, Madison-co.

MAY NEED COOPER O. K.

Although friends of the bill to inrease the gasoline tax predicted that it will pass the house by a large majority, other legislators claimed that the senate will not pass it, unless Gov. Myers Y Cooper indicates that he favors the bill.

The house rules committee with Speaker O. C Gray, as chairman, acting in the capacity of a "jitney" calendar committee which makes up the house calendar from day to day, will decide whether either of these measures or the Nickels bill, providing for licensing motor vehicle drivers, shall be called up on the question of passage The Nickels bill after passing the senate, was amended by the house motor vehicles committee which reduced the license fee from 35 to 25 cents.

DIVISION OF TAX

The Sullivan-Bostwick bill authorizes division of the proposed one-cent increase as follows; To townships, 25 per cent for use in improving township roads; to counties 10 per cent, based on motor registration, and another 10 per cent in equal proportion; to municipalities 10 per cent, on the basis of motor registration, and to the state highway department, 45 per cent for use on state roads.

The Creighton bill would provide for a rural police force with general police powers and authority to make arrests without warrants in cases of traffic law violators. These policemen would be prevented from operating within municipalities or participating in labor disputes.

Karr, from the witness stand insisted that he did not remember signing the contract.

Some weeks ago, while Capone was frolicking at Miami Beach, he received a subpoena to appear before the federal grand jury here.

The gang chieftain replied with an affidavit signed by Dr. Kenneth Phillips, which declared his health had failed, he was sick abed, with double pneumonia, pleurisy, spots before his eyes and lots of annoying symptoms Chicago, he was sure, would be the death of him, so he would try to drop in some other time

And he did drop in last week and courteously went before the grand jury and seemed genuinely sorry he didn't know anything to tell the gentlemen about bootlegging, and please hurry for he had to rush back to his royal palm grove

But Mrs. Willebrandt stepped into the case. She was puzzled about Mr. Capone's health On one hand, for instance, was his affidavit, on the other, newspaper pictures showing him doing cart wheels and aquaplaning

FRANCE ALSO HAS PROTEST IN RUM CASE

Joins England and Canada In Objecting to Sinking of Booze Craft.

(BULLETIN.)

OTTAWA, March 28.—The whole subject of the sinking of the Canadian ship I'm Alone by United States coast guardsmen off New Orleans may be brought upon the floor of the Canadian parliament when it resumes sessions after the Easter recess, members of the opposition and independent members of parliament indicated to International News Service today.

WASHINGTON, March 28 — Henry L. Stimson, when he assumes his duties as secretary of state tomorrow, will be confronted almost immediately with the task of attempting to defend the treasury deparment's coast guard against onslaughts from three foreign governments, Great Britain, Canada and France.

At the same time, he will have to justify the application of the domestic laws of the United States and the anti-rum smuggling treaties, permitting search and seizure of suspected vessels beyond the three mile limit, to the sinking by gunfire of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone.

DEPARTMENTS INVOLVED

The action of two enlisted men of the coast guard, commanding the cutters Walcott and Dexter, in exercising the authority usually given only to a commissioned officer has seemingly engaged at least two government departments into a hopeless tangle as to whether the sinking was proper under the tariff act or under the Anglo-American anti-rum running treaty. The treasury takes the former at its authority, and indications are the state takes the other.

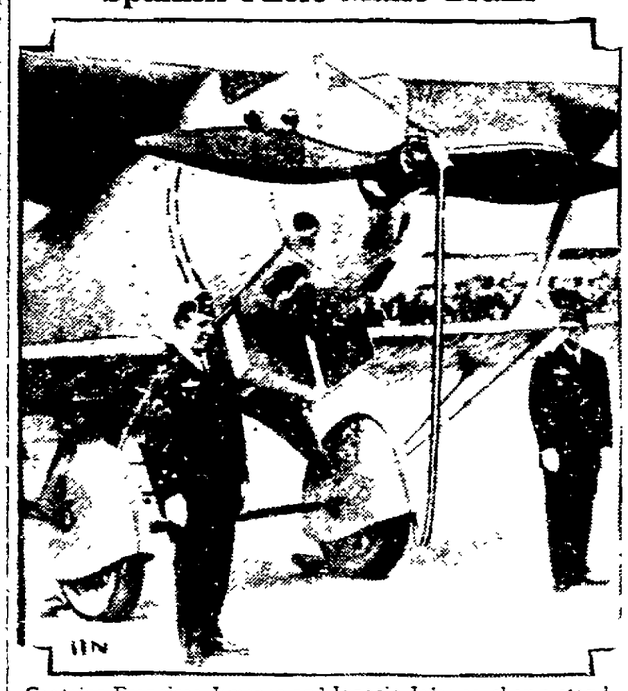
This was made clear in Canadian circles today, when it became known that the Ottawa government had been contemplating for some months a strong protest to the United States against the right asserted by this government and upheld by three domestic court decisions, of hot pursuit from any point within one hour's steaming distance from shore.

FRANCE PROTESTS

Coupled with the seriousness of firing on and sinking a vessel flying a foreign flag on the high seas the drowning of Leon Mangay, a Frenchman, brought France into the already seriously complicated situation.

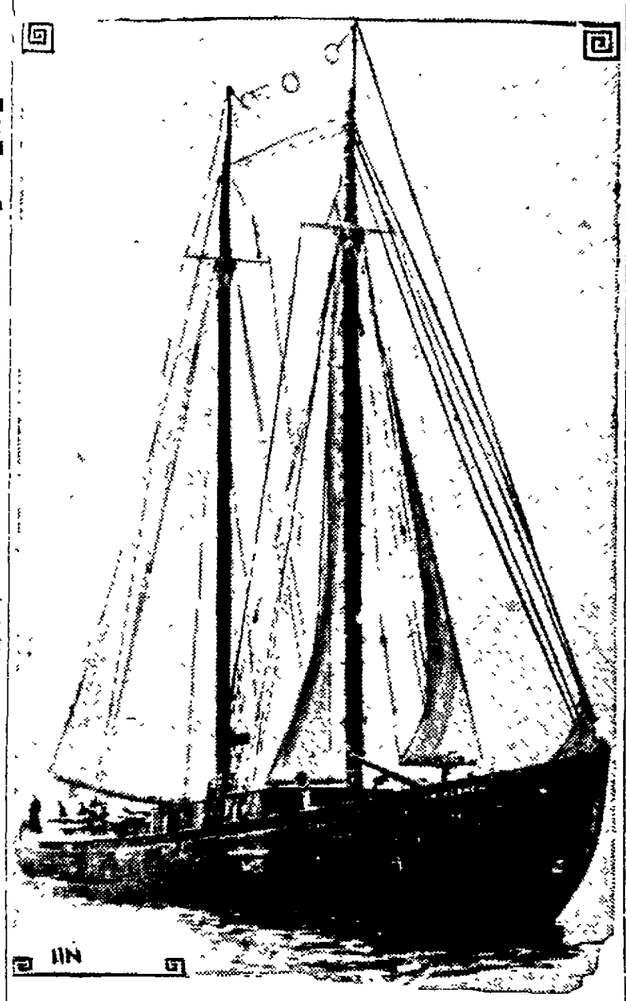
On the Mangay phase of the case, then, the protest will be jointly by Canada and France: on the sinking of the I'm Alone, the protest will be jointly by the Ottawa and London governments. Canada because of the vessel's registry, and the British government because of the involving of the whole question of freedom of the seas.

Spanish Fliers Make Brazil



Captains Francisco Jimenez and Ignacio Iglesias, shown standing in front of their plane, "Jesus del Gran Poder," at Seville, Spain, are reported safe over Brazil after flying across the Atlantic from Seville, Spain, en route to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Sought for Years, Finally Sunk



The British schooner, "I'm Alone," for years sought as a rum-runner, was sunk off the gulf coast by the Coast Guard cutter "Dexter," when the ship's crew resisted search. While Capt. A. L. Gamble, commander of the Coast Guard forces in the Gulf of Mexico, reported to Admiral F. C. Billard, commander-in-chief of the Coast Guard service, that the Dexter's action in sinking the British ship was "proper and commendable," international complications with Great Britain may result.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., May Head Hoover's Committee on Prohibition

World's Richest Young Man Regards Position As Most Important.

(By DAVID P. SENTNER.)
(Copyright, 1929, By I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, March 28.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the world's richest young man, today appeared as a potential candidate for the commission which President Hoover will select for the study of law enforcement.

Rockefeller displayed great interest on his return from abroad when told by International News Service during an interview of President Hoover's plans for a law enforcement inquiry committee.

"I can't think of anything more important than that," said Rockefeller. "It is admirable."

America's junior croesus did not record himself as to whether he would accept such a post if offered to him.

However, Rockefeller's views on the prohibition enforcement question are well known Several years ago he was one of the prominent members of a citizen's committee for law enforcement.

UNAFRAID OF LAW

"What do you think of the Jones enforcement law with its added penalties for violation of the prohibition act?" he was asked.

The millionaire evaded the question.

"I hardly think I shall have any trouble with the Jones law," he said with a smile

He also declined to comment on the sinking of the allged British rum running vessel "I'm Alone" off New Orleans by the coast guard

Rockefeller and Mrs Rockefeller returned home aboard the French Liner Ile de France after three months' cruising in Egypt and the Holy Land

He said he inspected the archeological excavations which he is financing in Egypt

"But, mind you I'm not doing any excavating," he said

CONFERS WITH KING

Rockefeller said that it was rather important that [illegible] inscriptions be engraved in brass in order to be transmitted to coming generations.

"The monuments in Egypt are disintegrating and [illegible] to preserve them for [illegible] should be encouraged," he said.

The millionaire said that he had an enjoyable audience with King Fuad in which the Egyptian king outlined his modernization plans.

Rockefeller said that he had found the Holy Land more beautiful than he had ever dreamed.

"Jerusalem is now a modern city with paved streets and a modern police force," he said.

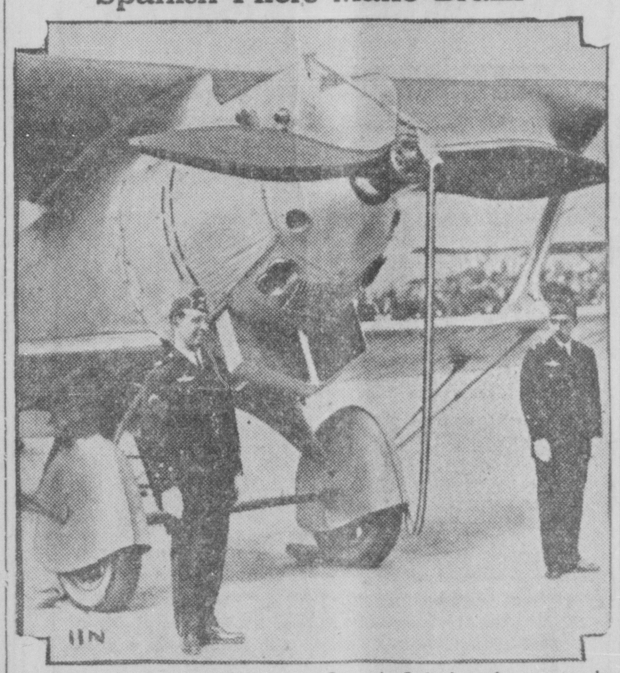
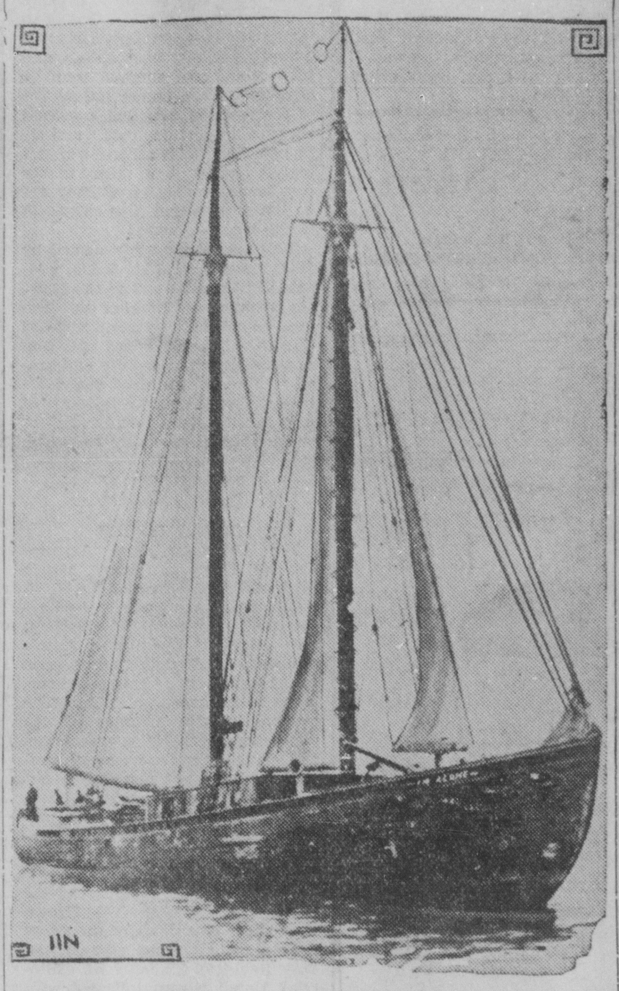
Spanish Fliers Make Brazil



Captains Francisco Jimenez and Ignacio Iglesias, shown standing in front of their plane, "Jesus del Gran Poder," at Seville, Spain, are reported safe over Brazil after flying across the Atlantic from Seville, Spain, en route to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Sought for Years, Finally Sunk



The British schooner, "I'm Alone," for years sought as a rum-runner, was sunk off the gulf coast by the Coast Guard cutter "Dexter," when the ship's crew resisted search. While Capt. A. L. Gamble, commander of the Coast Guard forces in the Gulf of Mexico, reported to Admiral F. C. Billard, commander-in-chief of the Coast Guard service, that the Dexter's action in sinking the British ship was "proper and commendable," international complications with Great Britain may result.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., May Head Hoover's Committee on Prohibition

World's Richest Young Man Regards Position As Most Important.

(By DAVID P. SENTNER.)
(Copyright, 1929, By I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, March 28.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the world's richest young man, today appeared as a potential candidate for the commission which President Hoover will select for the study of law enforcement.

Rockefeller displayed great interest on his return from abroad when told by International News Service during an interview of President Hoover's plans for a law enforcement inquiry committee.

"I can't think of anything more important than that," said Rockefeller. "It is admirable."

America's junior croesus did not record himself as to whether he would accept such a post if offered to him.

However, Rockefeller's views on the prohibition enforcement question are well known. Several years ago he was one of the prominent members of a citizen's committee for law enforcement.

UNAFRAID OF LAW

"What do you think of the Jones enforcement law with its added penalties for violation of the prohibition act?" he was asked.

The millionaire evaded the question.

"I hardly think I shall have any trouble with the Jones law," he said with a smile.

He also declined to comment on the sinking of the alleged British rum running vessel "I'm Alone" off New Orleans by the coast guard.

Rockefeller and Mrs. Rockefeller returned home aboard the French liner Ile de France after three months' vacationing in Egypt and the Holy Land.

He said he inspected the archeological excavations which he is financing in Egypt.

"But, mind you, I didn't do any excavating," he said.

CONFERS WITH KING

Rockefeller said that it was rather important that the old inscriptions be engraved in brass in order to be transmitted to coming generations.

"The monuments in Egypt are disintegrating and any effort to preserve them for posterity should be encouraged," he said.

The millionaire said that he had an enjoyable audience with King Fuad in which the Egyptian king outlined his modernization plans.

Rockefeller said that he had found the Holy Land more beautiful than he had ever dreamed.

"Jerusalem is now a modern city with paved streets and a modern police force," he said.

TUNNEY STARS AS TOREADOR

Retired Heavyweight Champion Said To Have Killed Bull At Seville.

MADRID, March 28—Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, has turned amateur bull fighter temporarily, and killed a bull in his first appearance in the arena, according to a dispatch from Seville. The affair took place in the Seville bull ring in the presence of thousands, including many aristocratic Spanish families.

Heretofore Tunney has administered knockouts with his fists this latest one was delivered with a sword.

When Tunney arrived in Seville and met the famous Spanish toreador Algabeno he promised to visit the country home of the bull fighter and to "experiement" in bull fighting.

Tunney and Algabeno entered the Seville arena together during a fete three bulls were released in the ring. The expert toreador killed two of them. The third with lowered head charged directly at Tunney.

The former marine held his ground with his sword ready. As the animal was almost upon him he planted the weapon in the bull's vitals.

The animal's wild rush almost carried Tunney off his feet.

As the bull fell the crowd broke into wild cheers for the brave American. Men waved their hats and women waved shawls and handkerchiefs. Tunney at once became the hero of Seville.

Infirmary Inmate Run Down While Looking For Work --Driver Exonerated.

One man was killed in au automobile accident and another man succumbed to a sudden attack of heart disease at his home at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in South Bloomfield.

The auto victim was Mack Stewart, 69, an inmate of the Pickaway-co Infirmary, who was struck by an automobile driven by W. G. Michaels, of Chillicothe.

The victim of heart disease was Elmer E. Hoffman, 67, carpenter, of South Bloomfield, who expired in a chair in the kitchen of his home following the evening meal.

Stewart was killed, according to witnesses, when he stepped out from behind a sign board at the intersection of the Bloomfield-Ashville road and the Scioto trail in front of Michael's northbound auto. His skull was fractured.

DRIVER EXONERATED

Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter, who was on his way to Columbus and who reached the scene soon after the accident and Sheriff Frank Davis and Coroner C. E. Bowers, who were summoned, exonerated Michaels from blame. Rev. Orville Gutridge, Columbus, who was following Michael's auto, said he had been driving very carefully.

Stewart had left the county infirmary to look for work Wednesday morning after having spent the winter there. He is survived by his widow, Edith, also an inmate of the infirmary. Last June Stewart was struck by an auto north of Circleville and severely injured, after which he was committed to the infirmary. Several years ago his widow was struck by an auto and now has a metal plate in her head from the injury she suffered.

The body of Stewart was removed to the funeral parlors of E. F. Schlegel in Ashville where funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Friday. Rev. Taylor officiating. Burial will be in Harrison-twp cemetery.

DIES AFTER SUPPER

Elmer Hoffman died suddenly at his home at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday after he had eaten his evening meal in apparent good health. He went into the kitchen, complained of a pain about his heart, sat down in a chair and succumbed within a few minutes.

He was born in Ross-co on Nov. 30, 1861, the son of William and Elizabeth Keefer Hoffman. He is survived by his widow, Mary; three sons, Russell, Lawrence and Ervill, all at home, and eight brothers; Charles, Canal Winchester; John, Tarlton; Frank, Circleville; Chauncey, Detroit; Rufus, Toledo, and Josephus, Waterloo, Ohio.

Funeral services will be conducted at the South Bloomfield Methodist church, of which he was a member, at 2 p. m. Saturday, the Rev. William Alexander officiating. Burial will be in Harrison-twp cemetery in charge of E. F. Schlegel.

WEDDING OF LINDY TO OCCUR IN MAINE

BOSTON, March 28 — North Haven, an island in Penobscot Bay Maine, will be the scene of the wedding of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of the Ambassador to Mexico, according to a report given credence here today.

The Morrow summer home, "Deacon Brown Point," is located on the outer side of the island and the room in which the wedding would probably be performed, should the report be correct, overlooks the sea. Miss Morrow is said to have become attached to the place since her father purchased it two years ago.

OHIO BUSINESS MAN SPEAKS UP

Tells How Hoyt's Compound Quickly Ended 16 Years of Suffering.

Mr Harry Alexander, 311 W. First Ave, Columbus, Ohio, is still another well known Ohio resident to speak up in praise for Hoyt's Compound which is the great natural mixture of nature's finest medical juices now being introduced to large crowds of residents of this city at Wilder's Drug Store.

MR. HARRY ALEXANDER

Mr Alexander was formerly of Lima, Ohio, but for the past 16 years has been a WELL KNOWN restaurant man in Columbus. He says:

"When I first came to Columbus from Lima, Ohio, to go into the restaurant business here, which was about 16 years ago, I began having trouble with neuritis in my arms and shoulders and which grew so severe that at times my elbows were stiff and my muscles became knotted and sore. Had also become a great victim of the bowel trouble and was compelled to take the strongest physics almost daily in order to have any bowel movement whatever. These physics seemed to bring relief for the time being only to wear off and in a day or so I would be just as bad off as before. Then I began having trouble with indigestion and my food souring on my stomach and causing me to bloat and stomach gas to form. This grew to be very painful and made it hard for me to go to sleep at nights, then a few years ago I began having night sweats so bad that I would have to change garments as many as four times in one night. My nervous system was simply wrecked Every time some one would tell me of a new medicine or I would read about it in the paper I would go and get it but in these 16 long years of suffering I had never found anything to give me lasting relief. They all seemed to help me for a while only to wear off shortly afterward. Finally after trying all of these different medicines with no more relief from them than if they had been water I began to LOSE HOPE of ever finding permanent relief from my suffering. A friend of mine then came to me a short time ago and said: "Why don't you try this Hoyt's Compound? It's really a great medicine. I have taken it and obtained wonderful results" Even then I was skeptical about trying another medicine, but finally more to please the friend than anything else I went and purchased two bottles of Hoyt's Compound and started taking it. I could hardly believe it was possible to obtain such quick results from the first bottles It just seemed to drive the misery and suffering out of my deranged organs and made me feel better than I have felt for many years The neuritis has entirely disappeared My stomach is greatly improved and my bowels are regular I never have those terrible night sweats now and my nerves are normal so that I can now go to bed and sleep soundly It certainly was a lucky day for me when my friend told me about Hoyt's Compound I owe all my health to this great medicine and I am more than pleased to endorse it"

Hoyt's Compound is now being introduced and explained daily at Wilder's Drug Store Circleville Ohio Also for sale by all live druggists everywhere—Adv.

Making Royal Purple

Royal purple, once the envy of the many and the privilege of the few, is now available to even the most humble of men. The dyestuff used to obtain this color once so rare, is made synthetically now, and the cost no longer excludes all but the wealthiest from decking themselves in this noble shade.

Prof. H. A. Schuette of the University of Wisconsin, in discussing the history of royal purple, declared that the first chemist to make purple synthetically used 12,000 snails of the same species in order to obtain a grain and a half of the dye. This perhaps explains why purple was so rare in the days before the chemist.

White Ant Lumber's Enemy

SCIENCE learned a lesson from THE TYPHOON.

We put it to work..that's one secret of SOHIO'S extra purity

TYPHOONS suck up water as they blow across the sea. The wind's tremendous velocity decreases as it approaches land. No longer sustained by terrific speed, the water drops to earth. This is why heavy rains invariably accompany hurricanes and typhoons. Long ago science discovered this phenomenon. Now its principle has been put to work to make Sohio pure.

The oil from which Sohio is made is vaporized by heating to 1000° Fahrenheit. Under 1000 lbs. pressure, it is forced through miles of pipe at terrific speed. At a certain point in its progress, this vapor is projected into a huge expansion tank. Immediately its velocity decreases. An action similar to the hurricane's releasing rain occurs. Impurities drop to the bottom of the tank. The vapor is then carried on through other pipes for even further purification. That's one secret of Sohio's extra purity, extra volatility.

Sohio is sold at Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and dealers' pumps everywhere in Ohio.

Mother and Nine Children Occupy Store Box Home

It isn't often that a mother with nine children live happily on the floor of a store box, which is covered with excelsior. The mother also receives callers to whom the youngsters are proudly exhibited, but are not urged to touch any of the staggering children.

The children stagger because they haven't yet their eyes opened and there are so many that the floor space is limited. The mother's name is Queenie and she is a collie dog. She is quite friendly and says "howydo," but that is as far as anyone gets with her. She lives to protect her babies, and they should be admired from a distance. Even before the advent of motherhood, she had a special aversion to certain folk, and although her hospitality will not permit her to bite them in her own home, she waits till they get on the outside and then nips 'em in the leg.

This proud mother is owned by Jesse Dawson, and her home is located in the east end of the Dawson garage on W. Main-st. The puppies entered this world Sunday. They are beautifully marked, two of them brown and white and seven are tan and white. They already have the ear marks of growing up into something of which their father may be proud.

Mother and Nine Children Occupy Store Box Home

It isn't often that a mother with nine children live happily on the floor of a store box, which is covered with excelsior. The mother also receives callers to whom the youngsters are proudly exhibited, but are not urged to touch any of the staggering children

The children stagger because they haven't yet their eyes opened and there are so many that the floor space is limited. The mother's name is Queenie and she is a collie dog She is quite friendly and says "howydo," but that is as far as anyone gets with her. She lives to protect her babies, and they should be admired from a distance Even before the advent of motherhood, she had a special aversion to certain folk, and although her hospitality will not permit her to bite them in her own home, she waits till they get on the outside and then nips 'em in the leg.

This proud mother is owned by Jesse Dawson, and her home is located in the east end of the Dawson garage on W. Main-st. The puppies entered this world Sunday. They are beautifully marked, two of them brown and white and seven are tan and white. They already have the ear marks of growing up into something of which their father may be proud.

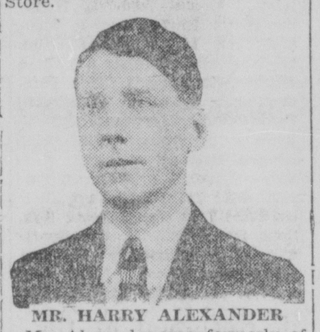
OHIO BUSINESS MAN SPEAKS UP

Tells How Hoyt's Compound Quickly Ended 16 Years of Suffering.

Mr. Harry Alexander, 311 W. First Ave., Columbus, Ohio, is still another well known Ohio resident to speak up in praise for Hoyt's Compound which is the great natural mixture of nature's finest medical juices now being introduced to large crowds of residents of this city at Wilder's Drug Store.



MR. HARRY ALEXANDER

Mr. Alexander was formerly of Lima, Ohio, but for the past 16 years has been a WELL KNOWN restaurant man in Columbus. He says:

"When I first came to Columbus from Lima, Ohio, to go into the restaurant business here, which was about 16 years ago, I began having trouble with neuritis in my arms and shoulders and which grew so severe that at times my elbows were stiff and my muscles became knotted and sore. Had also become a great victim of the bowel trouble and was compelled to take the strongest physics almost daily in order to have any bowel movement whatever. These physics seemed to bring relief for the time being only to wear off and in a day or so I would be just as bad off as before. Then I began having trouble with indigestion and my food souring on my stomach and causing me to bloat and stomach gas to form. This grew to be very painful and made it hard for me to go to sleep at nights, then a few years ago I began having night sweats so bad that I would have to change garments as many as four times in one night. My nervous system was simply wrecked. Every time some one would tell me of a new medicine or I would read about it in the paper I would go and get it but in these 16 long years of suffering I had never found anything to give me lasting relief. They all seemed to help me for a while only to wear off shortly afterward. Finally after trying all of these different medicines with no more relief from them than if they had been water I began to LOSE HOPE of ever finding permanent relief from my suffering. A friend of mine then came to me a short time ago and said: "Why don't you try this Hoyt's Compound? It's really a great medicine. I have taken it and obtained wonderful results." Even then I was skeptical about trying another medicine, but finally more to please the friend than anything else I went and purchased two bottles of Hoyt's Compound and started taking it. I could hardly believe it was possible to obtain such quick results from the first bottles. It just seemed to drive the misery and suffering out of my deranged organs and made me feel better than I have felt for many years. The neuritis has entirely disappeared. My stomach is greatly improved and my bowels are regular. I never have those terrible night sweats now and my nerves are normal so that I can now go to bed and sleep soundly. It certainly was a lucky day for me when my friend told me about Hoyt's Compound. I owe all my health to this great medicine and I am more than pleased to endorse it."

Hoyt's Compound is now being introduced and explained daily at Wilder's Drug Store, Circleville, Ohio. Also for sale by all live druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Making Royal Purple

Royal purple, once the envy of the many and the privilege of the few, is now available to even the most humble of men. The dyestuff used to obtain this color, once so rare, is made synthetically now, and the cost no longer excludes all but the wealthiest from decking themselves in this noble shade.

Prof. H. A. Schuette of the University of Wisconsin, in discussing the history of royal purple, declared that the first chemist to make purple synthetically used 12,000 snails of the same species in order to obtain a grain and a half of the dye. This perhaps explains why purple was so rare in the days before the chemist.

White Ant Lumber's Enemy

There is one insect that takes heavy annual toll in lumber, says the American Tree association. This is the termite, or white ant. These insects penetrate into the wood of floorings and walls and foundations. They eat their way through the wood, honeycombing it and weakening it.

SCIENCE learned a lesson from

THE TYPHOON

We put it to work . . that's one secret of

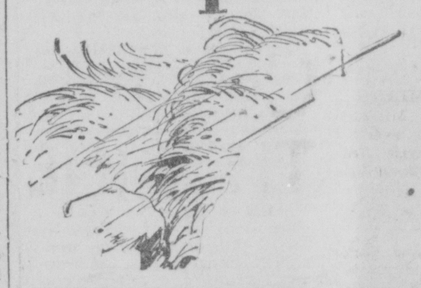
SOHIO'S extra purity



TYPHOONS suck up water as they blow across the sea. The wind's tremendous velocity decreases as it approaches land. No longer sustained by terrific speed, the water drops to earth. This is why heavy rains invariably accompany hurricanes and typhoons. Long ago science discovered this phenomenon. Now its principle has been put to work to make Sohio pure.

The oil from which Sohio is made is vaporized by heating to 1000° Fahrenheit. Under 1000 lbs. pressure, it is forced through miles of pipe at terrific speed. At a certain point in its progress, this vapor is projected into a huge expansion tank. Immediately its velocity decreases. An action similar to the hurricane's releasing rain occurs. Impurities drop to the bottom of the tank. The vapor is then carried on through other pipes for even further purification. That's one secret of Sohio's extra purity, extra volatility.

Sohio is sold at Red-White-and-Blue Standard service stations and dealers' pumps everywhere in Ohio.

"MY MASTER AND BROTHER"

Memory Verse for Thursday

"This do in remembrance of me" (Luke 22:19. (Read: Luke 22:1 to 20.)

MEDITATION: The scene in the Upper Room is the despair of art and very properly Leonardo's great painting is fading on the wall at Milan. The theologian and even the poet fail to express what The Last Supper means to me. When words fail me I resort to gestures which are more expressive than language. So a simple ceremony with the words of institution speak to me in some primitive speech of the heart and I enter the mystery and the glory of life as it is hid with Christ in God. Here I remember and I hope; and all the bitterness of sin and sorrow is dissolved in comfort. Love fills the world.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father who dost make me to sit down at Thy table, break to me the bread of life that I hunger not; refresh me with the mystical wine of life of which if a man drink, he shall never thirst. Through Jesus Christ my Lord. Amen.

LUDENDORFF FINED

HAMBURG, GERMANY, March 28 — Gen. Ludendorff, one of Germany's best known military leaders in the World war, was [illegible] sentenced to pay a fine of [illegible] marks or go to jail for 14 days for libelling a photographer named Sparr, of Cuxhaven, in his book about Free Masonry.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with stronger drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.

BIBLE THOUGHT

A NEW OPPORTUNITY — If the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statues, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die. — Ezekiel 18:21.

PRAYER— O make but trial of His love; Experience will decide, How blest they are, and only they Who in His truth confide.

AN EASTER THOUGHT

In the main the advancing nations of the world have always accepted the Christian belief, that Jesus Christ, following his crucifixion, appeared in some kind of form to his disciples and gave a demonstration that there is a life beyond.

While some philosophers and scientists reject that view, still the inmost truths of life are not always discovered by philosophers and scientists. Some are apprehended by spiritual consciousness only. We may not be able to prove scientifically that our friends love us, but we know by a thousand looks and glances and demonstrations of affection that they do. We have to learn the love of God for humanity in much the same way, and we do not go to the philosophers and ask them to prove it to us.

The faith in the genuineness of the Easter tradition has made a vast difference in the world. The communities that have accepted it and modeled their lives and institutions upon it to some extent, have been good places to live in. Human nature is still so faulty, that no community comes anywhere near the ideal standard set by Jesus. But where the Christian gospel has been accepted and adhered to even in part, social conditions have been immeasurably improved, life has become safer and more protected, education has advanced, charity and philanthropy have become common. And the countries and localities where this Christian gospel has not been accepted, still lag behind, and most of them are abodes of darkness, superstition and terror. There must be some power in a religion that so transforms life wherever it is given a chance to manifest its vitality.

So let us cast aside our doubts and fears on Easter day, and give our joyful assent to a form of faith that is steadily lifting humanity to a higher level.

BILLIONAIRES SHY AT FARM AID PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 28 — Apparently taking a hint from President Hoover, "big business" today appeared to be passing the buck back to congress on federal farm relief legislation.

The unusual action of the senate agriculture committee in asking a number of the nation's wealthiest financiers captigists and industrialists to help draft a new farm bill met either with courteous excuses or a wall of silence. Among those invited were Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., J. P. Morgan, Andrew W. Mellon, Paul M. Warburg Charles M. Schwab and Owen D. Young. Morgan and Young are abroad, while Warburg asked to be excused.

Grasping the Opportunity

"It's fierce how my memory is weakening; it's getting worse every day. Tomorrow morning I won't be able to remember what I've been doing today."

"Is that so? It's really too bad. Say, listen, can you let me have 50 bucks for about five days?"

FRANCE STICKS TO AGED RULERS

Same Men Have Been at Helm of Government for Many Years.

Paris.—The incredible conservatism of this supposedly volatile and mercurial nation is apparent in the fact that it alone among the great countries of the world is still governed by the men who ruled it before the war, and not only by men who governed it before the war, but by men who first took power in the time of Benjamin Harrison, Grover Cleveland and William McKinley.

There is a whole generation of Frenchmen who have never known their country and who apparently never will know it, when Raymond Poincare, Gaston Doumergue, Aristide Briand, Louis Barthou and Georges Leygues were not in one high office or another. This is the only nation on earth which goes on and on giving power, and that by free election, over and over to the same group of men.

Poincare Started 37 Years Ago.

Raymond Poincare, now premier and still considered indispensable, was first a cabinet minister 37 years ago, in 1892. He was then so fresh and young that when he entered his office to take up his duties as minister of education the doorkeepers took him for president of the university students' association and tried to make him send in his card.

The next year, 36 years ago, he was for the first time minister of finance. In and out of cabinet office he became premier for the first time in 1912.

Elected President of the republic in 1913, he held that office during the whole of the war and until 1920, when he went back to the senate to resume the office of premier. He is now, at sixty-nine, hardy, fiery and apparently "wanted" indefinitely.

Aristide Briand was never a prime minister until 1909, a mere 20 years ago. Since then he has headed ten cabinets and has been a cabinet minister in most of the others. But even before 1909 he was a political leader. In 1900 pushing through parliament a law limiting the working day to 11 hours, and in 1905 fathering a law separating church and state, a law which he had to become a cabinet minister to enforce, in 1906.

Since the war Briand has been almost continuously foreign minister. David Lloyd George, Woodrow Wilson, Charles E. Hughes, all of whom came into political life later than Poincare or Briand, have either died or left the stage. Briand gives no sign of retiring from the foreign office. In fact, he seems to have a lease on the building as long as it stands. It would probably fall down from astonishment if he left. The League of Nations certainly would be lost without him. In the slowly organized attempt at European unity he is the one figure who seems to hang in space independent of time.

The present minister of justice, Louis Barthou, with Jules Meline, headed a dual cabinet in 1895, more than a quarter of a century ago. This cabinet lasted three years. Barthou was premier again in 1913 and after ten months in that office gave way to Gaston Doumergue as premier. Doumergue had but six months as premier.

Elected President.

Afterward, for several years, he was president of the senate, and in 1924 was elected President of the republic, an office which he will hold, if he lives, until 1931.

Georges Leygues (pronounced "Lay") was first a cabinet minister in 1906, 21 years ago, when he was placed in charge of the ministry of education. In and out of several cabinets he has of late years settled down to a practically continuous occupancy of the ministry of marine, as the French call their navy department.

It is curious that the most determined pacifist in the Poincare cabinet should be minister of war. Paul Prudent Painleve never intended to be a politician. He had begun a brilliant career as a mathematician when first the Dreyfus case and later the early flights of the Wright brothers drew him from his professional chair. In the Dreyfus case he championed the accused officer against the general staff, determined to make an example of a Jew whether innocent or guilty and his interest in the first free mentary directions of the Wright brothers' flight was so keen that he forced or persuaded the government to invite them to France, and to finance their trip, long before any official attention was paid to them in America.

They keep Painleve in the war department to see that the army does not take the bit in its teeth. He was war minister during the most disheartening part of the great war, and has since been minister of finance and premier, the latter twice, during the last 10 years.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina, conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivien Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancee, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Irene wishes to spend the Summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be left penniless. Bill agrees to marry Sally.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER L.

TINA had dreams of going to New York in the Autumn, to live with Lilith and study art. She outlined her plans at the breakfast table one morning, after the boys had gone to work and Pat had trotted off to play. She didn't wish any interruptions.

Irene spoke up quickly: "I'm willing if your father is. And if he hasn't got any money to spare for it now, you shall take my two thousand that Miss Malvina left us."

"Take your pleasure money to spend all on myself? I guess not!" came the indignant answer.

Her father winced, as at a memory.

She perched herself jauntily on the arm of his chair. "Don't you think we might persuade the deacons to raise your salary or take up a collection for art students?"

He pinched her cheek reflectively. "I could squeeze out the money, I reckon."

"I'd like the child to have a chance to see what she can do with her art." Irene flushed with happiness at his responsivness. "And now seems the time."

Yes, now was the time, while she was in love with a young man who seemed to care only for the family at large. Maybe the shock of her absence might crystallize his emotions. It would give Tina new interests, at any rate.

Her hand trembled as she poured Guinn's second cup of coffee. "It's only fair for her to have the same advantages that Lilith has."

"Yes, I want her to study art if that's what she cares for most. But let her wait till next Fall. Lilith will be coming home in the Spring to marry Roger—if she still thinks she wants to. And, of course, Tina must be here for her sister's wedding. Wait till next September, child."

Her face showed keen disappointment, rebellion. "But it's now I want to go!"

Irene spoke up, to get her word in before he settled the matter decisively. "But it isn't fair, Guinn, to ask her to put off her ambitions a whole year just to suit Lilith's plans. I doubt if Lilith ever marries Roger. I hope to goodness she does, but she's such a creature of impulse you know."

"I don't want her to marry him if she doesn't love him enough," he said testily. "I never thought he was good enough for her. But she probably will marry him in the Spring."

"I could come home for the wedding, then, Father!" Tina cut in anxiously.

"That would break into your work. Wait till next year and you shall go."

He rose to leave the room, spilling Tina off his chair in his abruptness.

The girl stood looking at him a moment, hands clenched, face scarlet, eyes smouldering with rebellion. "You let Lilith do anything in the world she asks you!" she cried passionately. "You treat me as if I were a foundling!"

She flashed out of the room before he had time to reply.

He retreated toward the garage and a moment later Irene heard his car sputter down the street.

She sat deep in thought till Sheba came in to remove the breakfast dishes.

"What my baby chil' upset about?" Sheba demanded belligerently.

"She wants to go to New York to study art—and her father says she must wait a year."

She clucked like a wrathful setting hen. "A yeah! Wait a yeah to do whut she wants! Don't he know a girl's got to do whut she wants when she boilin' wants to?"

Sheba came closer to her mistress and spoke low, in a tone of mystery: "You make him let her go!"

"But I don't know whether that's best or not, Sheba," Irene answered honestly. "Maybe Miss Lilith wouldn't like to have her come up to stay with her. I'd like for the two girls to be there together, but it might not be wise for me to force it." She gazed into her coffee cup as if seeking wisdom there.

Sheba clattered the dishes on to her tray and slumped out to the kitchen, mumbling unintelligible words.

Irene thought hard over the subject as she went about her work that day. Should she raise the issue with Guinn and force him to let Tina go? That would be taking a big responsibility on herself. If anything happened, she would be to blame. She'd like for Tina to be there with Lilith . . because she was so dependable. But she wouldn't want her child to be hurt, in case her sister resented her coming without an invitation. Lilith was such a problematic character one could never know what she would do . . .

In the end she decided that she'd better not force the issue, since Guinn felt as he did about it and since Lilith might make an unpleasant complication for the child in New York.

In another year Lilith would surely be married, if not to Roger, then to somebody else she considered more desirable. She'd never be content to settle down long in the parsonage. Then Tina could have her chance . . . As soon as Lilith was married! . . .

When the matter was settled in her own mind, Irene's serene philosophy returned, and she tried hard to convince Tina that it was all for the best.

"We'll have heaps of fun together this Winter, darling. It's great to have a grown daughter at home. I'd feel horribly middle-aged with you away.

"You middle-aged? You'd never be that if you catch up with Methuselah."

"Well, I've felt its footsteps stealing nigh, some days when we've had more company than usual. Especially on washdays, when Sheba's temper is fire and tow. I do wish I could persuade your father to shade off his invitations on washday."

"You can't. Nobody but Lilith can persuade Father to do anything." The young eyes were full or resentment, the young lips quivered.

"No," Irene rushed on, "Southern hospitality is a glorious thing, but it has put up many a tombstone with a Mrs. on it. When I die, aged a hundred or so, you can use my epitaph, 'Killed by company to dinner.'"

She laughed gaily, and went toward the kitchen to make butterscotch pie. It was the family's favorite dessert.

"There'll be a missionary, his wife, and two children here to dinner," she said cheerfully to Sheba.

"Lawd help my soul!"

"And they look hungry. Missionaries have a lot to contend with, so let's give 'em a good feed. Maybe the cannibals will eat them when they get back to Africa."

"I wisht they'd et 'em fust!"

Irene laughed companionably. "When I celebrate my silver wedding, I'm going to have the ceremony performed all over again and have new vows. My husband will have to promise to help in the kitchen if he brings home company on washdays."

"That'll kill him or cure him, one!"

The two women looked at each other, sistered in comprehension of masculine weakness . . .

But that evening as the family sat on the lawn under the spreading pecan tree, Irene forgot missionaries, delegates, and all her problems, steeped as she was in the peace of rest, with her loved ones about her. The boys sprawled on the grass, tickling each other and wrestling like puppies, while Pat rocked her doll to sleep and Guinn smoked his cigar in meditative silence. Tina was lost in dreams, her hands folded in her lap, her face uplifted to the moon, her white dress giving her an ethereal appearance.

What was the child thinking of? Irene asked herself. . .

Children slipped away from their parents to uncharted lands. Mothers couldn't know what angels or dragons they met there, for they seldom revealed their experiences. Measles or a broken head a mother could help, but if a daughter had a heartache, she kept it proudly to herself, and everyone else must ignore it—even her mother. The shadow of a man's hand could cloud the sky for a girl.

Memory told her how she had held her own head high with pride in the days when Guinn hadn't asked her to marry him. How much of the truth had that wise woman, her mother, guessed? Silence could be the most gracious gesture in the world sometimes. Irene felt a sudden homesick longing to be that girl again, so that she might show her whole heart to her mother. . . . She missed her so!

For That Tired Feeling

Backaches and footaches and headaches are responsible for most of the wrinkles and worry squints and tired, listless faces among women. Body aches give that hard edge to the voice and make women feel forty-five when they are barely past thirty. Many of the tired aches could be avoided if women would take a little less care of their houses and a little better care of themselves.—Farm and Fireside.

No Use for It

The Saleslady—That's a pretty little thing you're looking at. It's an engagement book to keep track of your engagements.

Miss Flyter—I don't need it. I'm really engaged to only one man. The others don't matter much.

WED IN KENTUCKY

Announcement of the marriage of Noah Myers, proprietor of the Gem restaurant, E. Main-st, and former service director of Circleville, to Mrs. Sadie Crago, daughter of Mrs. Alice Pollack, of Five Points, was made Thursday. The marriage occurred on Tuesday, March 12, at Covington, Ky., where the ceremony was performed by Justice Bert J. King.

We have to learn the love of God for humanity in much the same way, and we do not go to the philosophers and ask them to prove it to us.

The faith in the genuineness of the Easter tradition has made a great difference in the world. The communities that have accepted it and modeled their lives and institutions upon it to some extent have been good places to live in. Human nature is still so faulty that no community comes anywhere near the ideal standard set by Jesus. But where the Christian gospel has been accepted and adhered to even in part social conditions have been immeasurably improved, life has become safer and more protected, education has advanced, charity and philanthropy have become common. And the countries and localities where this Christian gospel has not been accepted still lag behind and most of them are abodes of darkness, superstition and terror. There must be some power in a religion that so transforms life wherever it is given a chance to manifest its vitality.

So let us cast aside our doubts and fears on Easter day and give our joyful assent to a form of faith that is steadily lifting humanity to a higher level.

FRANCE STICKS TO AGED RULERS

Same Men Have Been at Helm of Government for Many Years.

Paris — The French republic continues to be the country where old men rule. Premiers and cabinet ministers are chosen from the ranks of the Senate, which is composed largely of men who have been in public life for many years. Most of the Senators are over 60 years old.

Poincare, premier, is 67 years of age. Painleve, minister of war, is 63. Briand, minister of foreign affairs, is 67. Loucheur, minister of commerce, is 61. Raoul Peret, minister of justice, is 67. Leon Perrier, minister of colonies, is 63. Loucheur and Georges Leygues have served in one cabinet or another. Briand is the only premier who has gone to the front during the war. Poincare was called to the front but he seems to have been on the wrong side of the line. Painleve has been in and out of the trenches.

Premier Poincare is 67 Years Age

Poincare, Painleve, Briand and Peret are lawyers by profession. Loucheur is a business man. Leygues is a newspaper publisher. Perrier is a physician. Peret is a graduate of the famous Ecole Polytechnique. Poincare, Painleve and Briand have been members of the Academie Francaise. WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

FOR twenty years Irene Holden is a model wife for handsome Guinn Holden, Texas minister. Ever in love with him herself, Irene hopes to win his heart from the "gold and white ghost" of the beautiful dead Lilith, his first wife. Only the second Lilith, born at her mother's death, has full control of his affections. Tina, Lundy, Ross and Patricia, Irene's children by Holden, are always secondary. Tina conscious of her foster sister's beauty and power, bears silently the humiliation of wearing her old clothes and using her old books in college. Lilith becomes engaged to Roger Devereux, son of wealthy Texas parents, but postpones her marriage to spend a year in New York with some money left her father. There she meets Vivien Winthrop, wealthy society girl, who introduces her to Bill Chester, scion of millions. Bill's fiancee, Sally Burton, is in Paris. When Irene wishes to spend the Summer alone in New York Irene objects, but her father, as usual, lets her have her way. Bill, madly in love with the blonde beauty of Lilith, asks her to break her engagement to Roger. He writes Sally breaking his own. Then a cable from his grandfather commands him to meet the old man abroad and interrupts the ecstatic courtship with Lilith. Overcome by the power of love and the thought of separation, Lilith gives herself up to Bill. For two days they are together before he sails. Roger, receiving Lilith's letter, hastens to New York. In Paris, Bill is told by his grandfather that if he marries Lilith he will be left penniless. Bill agrees to marry Sally.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER L.

TINA had dreams of going to New York in the Autumn, to live with Lilith and study art. She outlined her plans at the breakfast table one morning, after the boys had gone to work and Pat had trotted off to play. She didn't wish any interruptions.

Irene spoke up quickly: "I'm willing if your father is. And if he hasn't got any money to spare for it now, you shall have my two thousand that Miss Mamma left us."

"Take your pleasure money to spend all on myself? I guess not!" came the indignant answer.

Her father winced, as at a memory.

She perched herself jauntily on the arm of his chair. "Don't you think we might persuade the deacons to raise your salary or take up a collection for art students?"

He pinched her cross reflectively. "I could collect out the money, I reckon."

"I'd like the world to have a chance to see what I could do with my art." Irene flashed with hammer at her temples. "And now we're at the time."

You know what [illegible] love with a [illegible] Lilith wouldn't like to [illegible] two girls to [illegible] the force [illegible] not fit as [illegible]

She [illegible] not [illegible] kitchen [illegible]

[illegible] Lamont [illegible] not [illegible] an [illegible]

[illegible] Wait [illegible] soon go."

He rose to leave the room, spilling Tina off his chair in his abruptness.

The girl stood looking at him a moment, hands clenched, face scarlet, eyes smouldering with rebellion. "You let Lilith do anything in the world she asks you!" she cried passionately. "You treat me as if I were a foundling!"

She flashed out of the room before he had time to reply.

He retreated toward the garage and a moment later Irene heard his car sputter down the street.

She sat deep in thought till Sheba came in to remove the breakfast dishes.

"What my baby chil' upset about?" Sheba demanded belligerently.

"She wants to go to New York to study art—and her father says she must wait a year."

She clucked like a wrathful setting hen. "A-yeah! Wait a-yeah to do what she wants! Don't he know a girl's got to do what she wants when she be'ah wants to?"

She came closer to her mistress and spoke low in a tone of mystery. "You make him let her go."

"I don't know whether it's best or not. Sheba," Irene answered honestly. "Maybe Lilith wouldn't like to have two girls to [illegible] the force [illegible] not fit as [illegible]

[illegible] Lamont [illegible] not [illegible] an [illegible]

[illegible] Wait [illegible] soon go."

When the matter was settled in her own mind, Irene's serene philosophy returned, and she tried hard to convince Tina that it was all for the best.

"We'll have heaps of fun together this Winter, darling. It's great to have a grown daughter at home. I'd feel horribly middle-aged with you away."

"You middle-aged? You'd never be that if you catch up with Methuselah."

"Well, I've felt its footsteps stealing nigh, some days when we've had more company than usual. Especially on washdays, when Sheba's temper is fire and tow. I do wish I could persuade your father to shade off his invitations on washday."

"You can't. Nobody but Lilith can persuade Father to do anything." The young eyes were full of resentment, the young lips quivered.

"No," Irene rushed on. "Southern hospitality is a glorious thing, but it has put up many a tombstone with a Mason on it. When I die, aged a hundred or so, you can use my epitaph, 'Killed by company to dinner.'"

She laughed gaily, and went toward the kitchen to make butterscotch pie. It was the family's favorite dessert.

"There'll be a missionary, his wife, and two children here to dinner," she said cheerfully to Sheba.

"Lawd help my soul!"

"And they look hungry. Missionaries have a lot to contend with, so let's give 'em a good feed. Maybe the cannibals will eat them when they get back to Africa."

"I wish they'd et 'em first!"

Irene laughed companionably. "When I celebrate my silver wedding I'm going to have the ceremony performed all over again and have new vows. My husband will have to promise to help in the kitchen at the rings. The company can [illegible]."

"That'll kill him or cure him, one!"

The two women looked at each other and broke in convulsions of mirth.

But that evening as the family sat on the [illegible] the spreading [illegible] Irene forgot misunderstandings and all her problems, and she was in the mood of [illegible] her loved ones. "MY MASTER AND BROTHER"

Memory Verse for Thursday

"This do in remembrance of me" (Luke 22:19. (Read: Luke 22:1 to 20.)

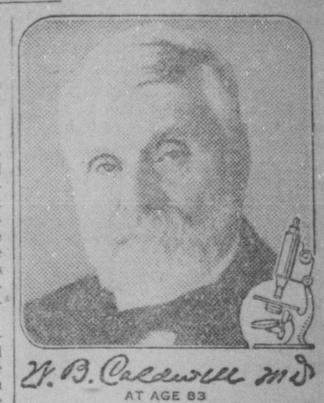
MEDITATION: The scene in the Upper Room is the despair of art and very properly Leonardo's great painting is fading on the wall at Milan. The theologian and even the poet fail to express what The Last Supper means to me. When words fail me I resort to gestures which are more expressive than language. So a simple ceremony with the words of institution speak to me in some primitive speech of the heart and I enter the mystery and the glory of life as it is hid with Christ in God. Here I remember and I hope; and all the bitterness of sin and sorrow is dissolved in comfort. Love fills the world.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father who dost make me to sit down at Thy table, break to me the bread of life that I hunger not; refresh me with the mystical wine of life of which if a man drink, he shall never thirst. Through Jesus Christ my Lord. Amen.

LUDENDORFF FINED

HAMBURG, GERMANY, March 28— Gen. Ludendorff, one of Germany's best known military leaders in the World war, was today sentenced to pay a fine of 800 marks or go to jail for 16 days for libelling a photographer named Sparr, of Cuxhaven, in his book about Free Masonry.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right



The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with stronger drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Do give it a trial, to prove how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours.

FOUND KONJOLA AFTER 10-YEAR HEALTH SEARCH

Immediate Health Comes When New Medicine of 32 Ingredients Is Put To the Test.

MR. JOHN H. McKETTERICK.

"It took me ten years to find the right medicine," said Mr. John H. McKetterick, 26 State street, Washington C. H., Ohio, "but I certainly found it in this remarkable Konjola. For ten years I had indigestion so bad that I thought I had reached the point where I was beyond relief. After every meal I suffered intensely, no matter how little I ate. My digestion simply was not on the job, and my food soured in my stomach. Often, in those ten years, I had to stay in bed, unable to get up and about.

"A friend suggested Konjola, but I did not take him seriously. But at last he talked me into trying it, and I soon found out that he knew what he was talking about. With the very first bottle I noticed improvement. In two weeks after starting with Konjola, I found myself eating regular meals again, and digesting them. My bowels are perfect, and the poisons are being taken from my system. I am feeling better all over than I have in years. I can readily understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Circleville, Ohio, at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

There are [illegible] ways, like [illegible] but fewer and fewer [illegible] is a pleasant way, modern [illegible] which combats the cause. A [illegible] of people now use it. And the [illegible] figures now seen everywhere are [illegible] due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

TRY TO SPEED UP RAID PROBE

Aurora, Ill., Citizens Want Killing of Woman Investigated At Once.

AURORA, ILL., March 28 — Foundation was being laid today for a special grand jury investigation of the dry raid in which Mrs. Joseph De King was shot to death, her husband clubbed unconscious and their 12-year-old son so terrorized that he shot one of the intruding officers.

Attorneys Robert A. Milroy and A. J. Kelley, representing the De King family, and backed by many prominent Aurora citizens, are leading the fight to take the investigation out of the hands of State's Attorney George Carbray, who, the De King lawyers assert, has indicated a prejudiced attitude against their clients.

Carbray, a pronounced dry, elected on a pledge to "mop up Kane-co," vowed he would resist the calling of a special grand jury, saying he would conduct his own investigation. He reasserted his conviction that the raider who shot Mrs. De King in her home acted in self defense.

Lawyers agreed their first move will be a demand that Coroner Hermann J. Vierke resume the inquest. Next they will ask that he petition a circuit court judge for the special jury and prosecutor.

"Prosecutor Carbray," they said "is content to let the matter rest until April 23, when the regular county grand jury will be convened, thinking by that time public sentiment will have cooled. We don't know what may happen between now and April 23, but the De King family wants justice done and they want it before the public forgets.

THEATRES

"WANDERING GIRLS"

Dorothy Revier and Mildred Harris are starred in "Wandering Girls" at the Grand theater tonight. It is the story of the daughter of straight-laced parents, who rebels against her family's ways and takes a fling at night life, meeting with a clever dancing team. The wife kills her husband rather than give him up to the other girl. Universal News, F. B. O. comedy and a new play by the Paul Brown Rotary Players are also on the program.

ALWAYS BATTLING

Trying to outwit Fred Kohler will soon become what psychoanalysts term a fixation, with Alan Hale.

Immediately after the two had completed work in "Sal of Singapore" where they were masters of rival ships as well as dual contenders for the favors of Phyllis Haver, both were selected for leading role in "The Spieler," in which they again match wits.

Alan Hale has the tile role of "The Spieler," with Kohler playing the leader of a gang of crooks who have secured the concessions in a traveling circus.

Renee Adoree was borrowed from Metro for the leading feminine role in this thrilling and original story of carnival life, produced by Ralph Block. The cast also includes Clyde Cook, Fred Warren, Jimmy Quinn and Kewpie Morgan.

"The Spieler," which will be on view at the Cliftona Theatre on Thursday and Friday, was adapted for the screen by Tay Garnett, director of the picture, and Hal Conklin, who wrote the original story.

Ventriloquism

The essential mechanism of ventriloquism consists in taking a full breath, then keeping the muscles of the chest and neck fixed, and speaking with the mouth almost closed and the lips and lower jaw as motionless as possible while air is very slowly expired through a narrow glott's. No air must escape through the nose.

Told in Confidence

"You have always appeared as a great leader."

"I have," answered Senator Sorghum, "but I'll tell you privately, I have sometimes felt like the drum major who had to step mighty fast in order to keep ahead of his own brass band."

CIRCLEVILLE YOUTH STARS AS MUSICIAN

To Circleville's hall of fame should be added another name. This time it is that of a former carrier of The Circleville Herald, Ralph Barnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnhart of Montclair-ave. Ralph's outstanding musical talent has carried him far.

At present he is playing the piano with the Dan Russo Oriole orchestra of 12 pieces at the Wisconsin hotel, Milwaukee, Wis. This orchestra is filling a six week's engagement there. Many of the numbers played by the orchestra are Ralph's own compositions. The orchestra broadcasts every night at 12 p. m. over station WTMJ of the Milwaukee Journal.

Condition permitting Jeanne Crowe will have the lead one night and Martha Mary Wolfe will play the lead the other night, in the two performances of "Second Childhood" next week by the public speaking classes of the Circleville high school. ...Y TO SPEED UP RAID PROBE

Aurora, Ill., Citizens Want Killing of Woman Investigated At Once.

AURORA, ILL., March 28 — Foundation was being laid today for a special grand jury investigation of the dry raid in which Mrs. Joseph De King was shot to death by her husband clubbed unconscious and their 12-year-old son so terrorized that he shot one of the intruding officers.

Attorneys Robert A. Mulroy and A. J. Kelley, representing the De King family, and backed by many prominent Aurora citizens, are leading the fight to take the investigation out of the hands of State's Attorney George Carbray, who, the De King lawyers assert, has indicated a prejudiced attitude against their clients.

Carbray, a pronounced dry, elected on a pledge to "mop up Kane-co," vowed he would resist the calling of a special grand jury, saying he would conduct his own investigation. He reasserted his conviction that the raider who shot Mrs. De King in her home acted in self defense.

Lawyers agreed their first move will be a demand that Coroner Hermann J. Vierke resume the inquest. Next they will ask that he petition a circuit court judge for the special jury and prosecutor.

"Prosecutor Carbray" they said "is content to let the matter rest until April 23, when the regular county grand jury will be convened, thinking by that time public sentiment will have cooled. We don't know what may happen between now and April 23 but the De King family wants justice done and they want it before the public forgets.

THEATRES

"WANDERING GIRLS"

Dorothy Revier and Mildred Harris are starred in "Wandering Girls" at the Grand theater tonight. It is the story of the daughter of straight-laced parents, who rebels against her family's ways and takes a fling at night life, meeting with a clever dancing team. The wife kills her husband rather than give him up to the other girl. Universal News, F B O comedy and a new play by the Paul Brown Rotary Players are also on the program.

ALWAYS BATTLING

Trying to outwit Fred Kohler will soon become what psychoanalysts term a fixation, with Alan Hale.

Immediately after the two had completed work in "Sal of Singapore" where they were masters of rival ships as well as dual contenders for the favors of Phyllis Haver, both were selected for leading role in "The Spieler," in which they again match wits.

Alan Hale has the title role of "The Spieler," with Kohler playing the leader of a gang of crooks who have secured the concessions in a traveling circus.

Renee Adoree was borrowed from Metro for the leading feminine role in this thrilling and original story of carnival life, produced by Ralph Block. The cast also includes Clyde Cook, Fred Warren, Jimmy Quinn and Kewpie Morgan.

"The Spieler," which will be on view at the Clifton Theatre on Thursday and Friday, was adapted for the screen by Tay Garnett, director of the picture, and Hal Conklin, who wrote the original story.

Ventriloquism

The essential mechanism of ventriloquism consists in taking a full breath, then keeping the muscles of the chest and neck fixed and speaking with the mouth almost closed and the lips and lower jaw as motionless as possible while air is very slowly expired through a narrow glottis. No air must escape through the nose.

Told in Confidence

"You have always appeared as a great leader."

"I have," answered Senator Sorghum, "but I'll tell you privately, I have sometimes felt like the drum major who had to step mighty fast in order to keep ahead of his own brass band."

Federal Arms Gaining in Power

This is one of the first photos of Secretary of War Calles of Mexico shown going into a conference at Durango in the typical uniform of a Mexican general. His forces are pressing the rebels around Mazatlan which the Federals expect to recapture and continue their march into Chihuahua, the rebel stronghold.

TOLEDO, O., March 28— Following election of officers at the closing session, members of the Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution, who attended the 30th annual conference here, were returning to their homes throughout Ohio today.

Heumel, Springfield, recording secretary, Mrs. LeRoy Baldwin, Ravenna, treasurer, Mrs. Josephine Dieferbaugh, Akron, historian, Mrs. Alice Boardman, Columbus, state librarian.

Miss Clara Lindsey, who has been spending the spring vacation with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stout of S. Court-st., will return to Cuyahoga Falls Friday where she is employed as a teacher in the public schools.

CIRCLEVILLE YOUTH STARS AS MUSICIAN

To Circleville's hall of fame should be added another name. This time it is that of a former carrier of The Circleville Herald, Ralph Barnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Barnhart of Montclair-ave. Ralph's outstanding musical talent has carried him far.

At present he is playing the piano with the Dan Russo Oriole orchestra of 12 pieces at the Wisconsin hotel Milwaukee, Wis. This orchestra is filling a six week's engagement there. Many of the numbers played by the orchestra are Ralph's own compositions. The orchestra broadcasts every night at 12 p. m. over station WTMJ of the Milwaukee Journal.

LEAD TO BE TAKEN BY TWO STUDENTS

Condition permitting Jeanne Crowe will have the lead one night and Martha Mary Wolfe will play the lead the other night, in the two performances of "Second Childhood" next week by the public speaking classes of the Circleville high school. Jeanne who has been ill with tonsilitis may not be able to appear, in this case Martha Mary Wolfe will play the lead both nights.

FOUND KONJOLA AFTER 10-YEAR HEALTH SEARCH

Immediate Health Comes When New Medicine of 32 Ingredients Is Put To the Test.

MR. JOHN H. McKETTERICK.

"It took me ten years to find the right medicine," said Mr. John H. McKetterick, 26 State street, Washington C. H., Ohio, "but I certainly found it in this remarkable Konjola. For ten years I had indigestion so bad that I thought I had reached the point where I was beyond relief. After every meal I suffered intensely, no matter how little I ate. My digestion simply was not on the job, and my food soured in my stomach. Often, in those ten years, I had to stay in bed, unable to get up and about.

"A friend suggested Konjola, but I did not take him seriously. But at last he talked me into trying it, and I soon found out that he knew what he was talking about. With the very first bottle I noticed improvement. In two weeks after starting with Konjola, I found myself eating regular meals again, and digesting them. My bowels are perfect, and the poisons are being taken from my system. I am feeling better all over than I have in years. I can readily understand why Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million friends."

Konjola is sold in Circleville, Ohio, at Hamilton & Ryan's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

HOW TO FIGHT EXCESS FAT

There are hard ways, like starvation, but fewer and fewer employ them. There is a pleasant way, modern and scientific, which combats the cause. A vast number of people now use it. And the slender figures now seen everywhere are largely due to that.

That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. And everybody, in almost every circle, sees the change. New beauty, new health, new vitality.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So users have no fear of harm. Learn the facts about Marmola, because of the good it has done. Ask your druggist—now—for a $1 box with the book. Then decide.

How to Be Better

Some one once said that pretending that the people can be better off than they are, is sheer radicalism. There never was more nonsense uttered in an equal number of words. The people can be better off than they are; this should be their aim, their religion And all they need do to be better off is to behave better; work more save more earn the respect of their neighbors; be more honorable, polite and effective.—E W. Howe's Monthly.

Wash clothes in water softened with Melo—save ⅓ to ½ the usual amount of soap

CLOTHES washed in hard water are hard to get clean The hardness in the water combines with the soap and makes scum. The scum collects dirt It gets into the fabric of the clothes. No amount of rinsing can get it all out.

But soften hard water with Melo and there isn't any scum. The water makes wonderful suds. Melo saves from ⅓ to ½ the amount of soap ordinarily used. With or without soap, water softened with Melo is a wonderful cleaner. Get it at your grocer's

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A FEW days ago a member of the Congress came to talk with me about his father, who has ulcer of the stomach. By an odd coincidence I sat next a lady at dinner that evening, who confided to me that she was fussy about her food because she has a tendency to the same trouble.

DR COPELAND

It is really remarkable that our poor abused stomachs do not rebel more frequently than they do. We put into them almost everything except the kitchen stove. But, in spite of all mistreatment, digestion goes on, and relatively few persons suffer from serious stomach disease.

This organ is shaped like a pear, with the small end to the right. The large part is entered through the gullet and, after the food is prepared in the interior of the stomach, it is expelled through the "pyloric valve" into the small intestine.

The part of the intestine which immediately joins the stomach is called the "duodenum." It is at this narrow part of the passageway that ulceration is likely to occur.

Of course, the most strain, the greatest degree of pressure, will be observed in this restricted region. It seems perfectly natural for disturbance to occur here if it occurs anywhere. As a matter of fact, almost all ulcers are located here.

We didn't know much about the details of ulcers in this region until the X-ray was brought into common use. Now it is possible to learn a lot about the individual case.

Time and space will not permit any extensive discussion of the different types of stomach ulcers. You may imagine a small ulcer to be similar to a canker sore in the mouth. The acute type is small, with clean cut edges, as if it had been punched out of the tissues

The chronic ulcer is larger, irregular in shape, and in a sense like a burn of the skin. Whether it is serious or not depends on how deeply it reaches down into the wall of the stomach In the dangerous case it continues to burrow until it eats its way through the wall resulting in actual perforation.

The symptoms produced by ulcer of the stomach depend on the type and extent of the ulceration. Indigestion or dyspepsia is the first sign. In a severe case there may be sickness at the stomach and vomiting.

If the ulceration is deep enough to involve the blood vessels there will be bleeding. The vomited material may be stained with blood. In some cases quantities of blood may be expelled.

There is pain and this is a marked symptom of the disease The pain may be burning or gnawing in its nature. It is worse when the stomach is empty. The victim learns very quickly that taking food stops the pain.

There is tenderness on pressure. Effort is made to loosen the clothing in this region.

Most persons who have ulcer begin to lose weight. Pretty soon they are very thin, very thin.

Let me say at once that large numbers of ulcers heal of their own accord. It is a slow process, taking months and even years, possibly

In the acute case rest in bed is imperative This is true whether the ulcer is in the stomach or in the duodenum.

While the patient is resting the physician will seek the cause. Since infection is believed to be the chief factor, he will examine teeth, gums, tonsils, nasal cavities and other parts of the body to find where pus may be located.

We will assume that the focus of infection is located and removed. In the meantime the patient is kept quiet and properly fed. Everything is done to improve the circulation and build up the health. Good sense in these matters will bring about a cure

Sounds Practical

"Child Injured by Washing Machine." News headline. We did not know that device was designed to wash kids, but the idea sounds attractive, especially if there's an attachment to it to launder cars.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.
